PSYC 5327 – Spring 2018, Room LS 420

Wednesdays 1:30 p.m. to 4:20 p.m.

Instructor: Nicolette P. Hass, Ph.D.

Office: Life Science Building Room 308

Phone: (817) 272-5480

E-mail: nphass@uta.edu (preferred method of communication)

Office Hours: Thursday 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. or by appt.

Eligibility: Students enrolled in the I/O psychology master's program at UT Arlington are eligible to seek an internship if they have satisfactorily completed at least one semester of required class work as dictated by their specific graduate catalog. Students on academic probation should enroll in and attend the internship course; however, they are not eligible to seek an internship until their academic performance meets the requirements as set forth by the University Catalog.

Internship Course Learning Objectives: The internship course is designed to develop and enhance the student's knowledge and application of I/O psychology. The purpose of the course is to provide students with practical knowledge in relevant areas. Learning gained from this course will enhance the student's knowledge, skills, and abilities needed to be strong competitors for employment. The course will provide a forum where students will proactively network with professionals in the field. Other, related activities will be required to further develop students as future I/O professionals.

Required Readings:

- Block, P. (2011). Flawless consulting: A guide to getting your expertise used (3rd Ed.). Jossey-Bass/Pfeiffer Publishers ISBN: 978-0-470-62074-8
- Lowman, R. L. (2006). The ethical practice of psychology in organizations (2nd Ed.). APA Publishers ISBN: 1-59147-353-5
- Other readings as assigned.

Communications: When communicating with faculty members and other professionals, as well as with peers and other colleagues, all students are expected to communicate in a professional manner regardless of the media (phone, e-mail, face-to-face, etc.). This includes addressing one's audience using his/her proper title, using proper grammar, and using proper spelling. How one delivers a message is often as important as the message itself. Thus, I expect students to communicate professionally when communicating with me. This includes, but is not limited to, using proper greetings and an appropriate tone. Students who communicate inappropriately (disrespectful verbal and nonverbal tone, and/or message content) will be referred to the Chair of the Psychology Department for disciplinary action.

Electronic Mail: UT Arlington has adopted MavMail as its official means to communicate with students about important deadlines and events, as well as to transact University-related business regarding financial aid, tuition, grades, graduation, etc. This instructor will use your UT Arlington student e-mail account for official communication regarding this course. All students are assigned a MavMail account and are responsible for regularly checking the inbox. There is no additional charge to students for using this account, which remains active even after graduation. Information about activating and using MavMail is available at <http://www.uta.edu/oit/cs/email/mavmail.php>. Communications and other class announcements will also be posted on the Blackboard system.

Computers and Other Electronic Devices: Students may use their laptop or other computer devices for in-class note-taking purposes only. Students will refrain from using computers to access Facebook, YouTube, or other Web sites that are not directly related to the class discussion. Failure to comply with this requirement will result in the student losing in-class computer privileges. Multiple offenses regarding this policy will result in laptops being banned from the classroom.

Cell Phones: Do not leave your cell phone on during class. Even on vibrate mode these devices are very distracting to me and to other students. If you need to take a call, please leave the classroom to do so.

Participation: The purpose of the internship meetings is to provide an opportunity to share real-world experiences, tools, methods, observations, challenges, accomplishments and best practices, and to provide a forum where students can obtain support, feedback and recommendations. Active participation is a key element to your success. Being an active contributor in class discussions will help you to not only learn the material but will also help in developing your professional skills. I will be actively monitoring the quality and frequency of your contributions. Students will receive 10 participation points per class for actively contributing quality information to the class discussions. Students will receive 5 points per class for minimal participation (Minimal = speaking once during the three-hour class period). Students will receive zero points per class for no participation. Supplemental participation information specific to 2nd year students is noted on the Second Year Student Assignment Supplement.

Attendance: At The University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required. Rather, each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students' academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. For this course, attendance is mandatory and promptness is expected. Participation points will be deducted for unexcused absences and late arrivals (Late = anytime after 1:30 p.m. on a regularly scheduled class day). The instructor reserves the right to deny entrance into the class if students are late. The instructor also reserves the right to remove any student that disrupts the learning process. Supplemental attendance information specific to 2nd year students is noted on the Second Year Student Assignment Supplement.

Assignments: Specific instructions regarding all required assignments will be provided on the first day of class. All assignments should be written and presented in a professional manner as the requirements of each specific assignment dictate.

Field Internship Requirement: Students who are considered in good standing in the program (i.e., not on academic probation) are eligible to obtain an internship. The purpose of the field internship requirement is to provide practical, on-the-job experience in areas relevant to the practice of I/O psychology. Integrating the concepts and ideas learned in the classroom and effectively applying this knowledge while on the job will strengthen performance in the workplace thus enhancing students' overall marketability.

Students are expected to find their own internship opportunities. The internship instructor will provide students with available information regarding internship opportunities; however, it is the student's responsibility to secure his/her own internship experience(s). Paid internships are, of course, preferred but not required.

Student interns should be involved in I/O-related activities (e.g., job analysis, recruiting, job evaluation and compensation, test validation, assessment and reporting, employee opinion survey analysis and feedback, focus groups, training development or conducting training, performance evaluation programs or succession planning). The student must meet with the internship instructor to discuss the internship position to ensure it meets the internship instructor's expectations and the program's requirements before a position is considered an internship. The internship instructor must approve each internship experience in advance in order for the student to receive credit towards fulfilling the 400-hour internship requirement. A Notification of Internship form (on Blackboard) must be completed and turned in to the instructor prior to the student accumulating internship hours. Credit will not be given for previous work experiences.

The Internship Log(s): Once the student has secured an internship, a daily log of internship hours should be kept and maintained throughout the internship experience. The daily log should include activities/achievements as well as feelings or reactions. For each day, a brief synopsis of the day's activities should be entered including what the student was doing, KSAs utilized, and should also include psychological reactions to the day's events. This activity has been recognized as one of the best ways to learn from experience. Students will be provided with a template excel sheet and will use the sheet format for log entries (Internship Log TEMPLATE found on Blackboard). The final log will be due upon completion of the 400-hour field internship requirement. The Internship Search Logs (1st years only; TEMPLATE found on Blackboard) will also be due to the instructor prior to the end of the semester (check due dates found on this document).

Evaluation: Students will be evaluated based upon their ability to complete the required assignments. Assignments must be completed in a timely and professional manner. Grades will be based on the following:

First Year Students

Internship Log(s) / Experiences.....	15% of final grade
Professional Materials (Résumé, Five-minute drill, Wish list, Activity list).....	15% of final grade
Interview with a Professional Presentation.....	30% of final grade
Class Participation*.....	40% of final grade

Second Year Students

*Participation includes (but is not limited to) attendance, proactively contributing to class discussion/activities, satisfactorily addressing instructor questions, participating as an active audience member, etc.

The course grades will be assigned as follows:

A	90 – 100%
B	80 – 89%
C	70 – 79%
D	60 – 69%
F	0 – 59%

An “A” is not a guarantee in this class; it must be earned by the student.

Grade Information: Periodic updates from the instructor may be sent via e-mail to inform students of their current progress in the course (participation, attendance, etc.). Students may at any time during office hours or by appointment throughout the semester confer with the instructor about their grades and class progress.

Final Grade Information: No final grade information will be released by phone or e-mail. Students may at any time during office hours or by appointment throughout the semester confer with the instructor about his/her grades and progress in class.

Grade Grievances: Any appeal of a grade in this course must follow the procedures and deadlines for grade-related grievances as published in the current University Catalog <http://catalog.uta.edu/academicregulations/grades/#graduatetext> For student complaints, see <http://www.uta.edu/deanofstudents/student-complaints/index.php>

Final Review Week: A period of five class days prior to the first day of final examinations in the long sessions shall be designated as Final Review Week. The purpose of this week is to allow students sufficient time to prepare for final examinations. During this week, there shall be no scheduled activities such as required field trips or performances; and no instructor shall assign any themes, research problems or exercises of similar scope that have a completion date during or following this week unless specified in the class syllabus. During Final Review Week, an instructor shall not give any examinations constituting 10% or more of the final grade, except makeup tests and laboratory examinations. In addition, no instructor shall give any portion of the final examination during Final Review Week. During this week, classes are held as scheduled. In addition, instructors are not required to limit content to topics that have been previously covered; they may introduce new concepts as appropriate. For more information regarding final review week, visit the Academic Regulations Web site.

Student Feedback Survey: At the end of each term, students enrolled in classes categorized as “lecture,” “seminar,” or “laboratory” shall be directed to complete an online Student Feedback Survey (SFS). Instructions on how to access the SFS for this course will be sent directly to each student through MavMail approximately 10 days before the end of the term. Each student’s feedback enters the SFS database anonymously and is aggregated with that of other students enrolled in the course. UT Arlington’s effort to solicit, gather, tabulate, and publish student feedback is required by state law; students are strongly urged to participate. For more information, visit <http://www.uta.edu/sfs>.

Drop Policy: Students may drop or swap (adding and dropping a class concurrently) classes through self-service in MyMav from the beginning of the registration period through the late registration period. After the late registration period, students must see their academic advisor to drop a class or withdraw. Undeclared students must see an advisor in the University Advising Center. Drops can continue through a point two-thirds of the way through the term or session. It is the student's responsibility to officially withdraw if they do not plan to attend after registering. Students will not be automatically dropped for non-attendance. Repayment of certain types of financial aid administered through the University may be required as the result of dropping classes or withdrawing. For more information, contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships (<http://wweb.uta.edu/aao/fao/>).

Authorized Absences: The Office of the Vice President for Student Affairs provides lists of students who have absences authorized by the University (e.g., participation in athletic events or scholastic activities that are officially sponsored University functions--those are primarily activities that are funded by the University). The student must notify the instructor in writing at least one week in advance of the start of the excused absence and arrange with the instructor to make up missed work or missed examinations. Instructors will allow students an opportunity to make up the work and examinations within a reasonable time period following the absence or otherwise adjust the grading to ensure that the student is not penalized for the absence, provided that the student has properly notified the instructor. Students who have properly notified the instructor, will not be penalized for the absence. However, the instructor may respond appropriately if the student fails to complete the assignment or examination satisfactorily within the time limit following the absence set by prior arrangement. If there is disagreement between student and faculty member regarding what constitutes a reasonable amount of time to complete any missed assignments or examinations, either the student or the instructor may request a ruling from the Office of the Vice Provost for Academic Analytics and Operations. The decision of the Vice Provost is final.

In accordance with section 51.9111 of Texas Education Code, a student is excused for attending classes or engaging in other required activities, including examinations, if he or she is called to active military service of reasonably brief duration. The student will be allowed a reasonable amount of time after the absence to complete assignments and take examinations.

Students who must miss an examination, class assignment or other project because of an observance of a religious holy day will be given the opportunity to complete the work missed within a reasonable time after the absence (19 Texas Administrative Code §4.4).

A religious holy day means a holy day observed by a religion whose places of worship are exempt from property taxation under Section 11.20 of the Tax Code. A student will be excused from attending classes or completing other required activities, including examinations for the observance of a religious holy day. The period of the excused absence will include time for any travel needed to fulfill that religious obligation. The student will be given the opportunity to complete the work missed, within a reasonable time period following the absence, provided the student has properly notified the instructor. The instructor must be notified in writing at least one week in advance of the absence and the student must arrange with the instructor to make up missed work or examinations. The instructor is under no obligation to accommodate students who are absent or miss work without prior notification and make-up arrangements. Students who have properly notified the instructor will not be penalized for the absence. However, the instructor may respond appropriately if the student fails to complete the assignment or examination satisfactorily within the time limit following the absence set by prior arrangement.

If the instructor and the student disagree about whether an absence constitutes a religious holy day as defined above, or if there is similar disagreement about whether the student has been given reasonable time to complete any missed assignments or examinations, either the student or the instructor may request a ruling from the Office of the Provost. The decision of the Provost is final.

Any student who is found to have committed ANY act of academic or scholastic dishonesty in relation to the assignments and requirements of this course will automatically receive a failing grade for the course. The failing grade for the course will be in addition to any University or Departmental sanctions which may include dismissal from the I/O program.
