Attendance Policy:

At The University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required. Rather, each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students' academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. As the professor of this course, I will be taking attendance. This class meets twice a week, and like student teaching, this course is a professional obligation where punctual attendance is necessary. More than three absences or continual tardiness will constitute a lower grade by one letter. Students should notify professor of absence via email at least an hour before class.

Electronic Communication:

UT Arlington has adopted MavMail as its official means to communicate with students about important deadlines and events, as well as to transact university-related business regarding financial aid, tuition, grades, graduation, etc. All students are assigned a MavMail account and are responsible for checking the inbox regularly. There is no additional charge to students for using this account, which remains active even after graduation. Information about activating and using MavMail is available at <http://www.uta.edu/oit/cs/email/mavmail.php>.

Disability Accommodations:

UT Arlington is on record as being committed to both the spirit and letter of all federal equal opportunity legislation, including The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), The Americans with Disabilities Amendments Act (ADAAA), and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act. All instructors at UT Arlington are required by law to provide “reasonable accommodations” to students with disabilities, so as not to discriminate on the basis of disability. Students are responsible for providing the instructor with official notification in the form of a letter certified by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD). Only those students who have officially documented a need for an accommodation will have their request honored. Students experiencing a range of conditions (Physical, Learning, Chronic Health, Mental Health, and Sensory) that may cause diminished academic performance or other barriers to learning may seek services and/or accommodations by contacting: The Office for Students with Disabilities, (OSD) <http://www.uta.edu/disability/> or calling 817-272-3364. Information regarding diagnostic criteria and policies for obtaining disability-based academic accommodations can be found at www.uta.edu/disability.

Academic Integrity:

Students enrolled all UT Arlington courses are expected to adhere to the UT Arlington Honor Code:

I pledge, on my honor, to uphold UT Arlington's tradition of academic integrity, a tradition that values hard work and honest effort in the pursuit of academic excellence.

I promise that I will submit only work that I personally create or contribute to group collaborations, and I will appropriately reference any work from other sources. I will follow the highest standards of integrity and uphold the spirit of the Honor Code.

UT Arlington faculty members may employ the Honor Code in their courses by having students acknowledge the honor code as part of an examination or requiring students to incorporate the honor code into any work submitted. Per UT System Regents' Rule 50101, §2.2, suspected violations of university's standards for academic integrity (including the Honor Code) will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct. Violators will be disciplined in accordance with University policy, which may result in the student's suspension or expulsion from the University. Campus Carry:

Effective August 1, 2016, the Campus Carry law (Senate Bill 11) allows those licensed individuals to carry a concealed handgun in buildings on public university campuses, except in locations the University establishes as prohibited. Under the new law, openly carrying handguns is not allowed on college campuses. For more information, visit <http://www.uta.edu/news/info/campus-carry/>

Student Support Services:

UT Arlington provides a variety of resources and programs designed to help students develop academic skills, deal with personal situations, and better understand concepts and information related to their courses. Resources include tutoring, major-based learning centers, developmental education, advising and mentoring, personal counseling, and federally funded programs. For individualized referrals, students may visit the reception desk at University College (Ransom Hall), call the Maverick Resource Hotline at 817-272-6107, send a message to resources@uta.edu, or view the information at <http://www.uta.edu/studentsuccess/success-programs/programs/resource-hotline.php>.

Student Feedback Survey:

At the end of each term, students enrolled in face-to-face and online classes categorized as "lecture," "seminar," or "laboratory" are directed to complete an online Student Feedback Survey (SFS).

Instructions on how to access the SFS for this course will be sent directly to each student through MavMail approximately 10 days before the end of the term. Each student's feedback via the SFS database is aggregated with that of other students enrolled in the course. Students' anonymity will be protected to the extent that the law allows. UT Arlington's effort to solicit, gather, tabulate, and publish student feedback is required by state law and aggregate results are posted online. Data from SFS is also used for faculty and program evaluations. For more information, visit <http://www.uta.edu/sfs>.

Final Review Week:

For semester-long courses, a period of five class days prior to the first day of final examinations in the long sessions shall be designated as Final Review Week. The purpose of this week is to allow students sufficient time to prepare for final examinations. During this week, there shall be no scheduled activities such as required field trips or performances; and no instructor shall assign any themes, research problems or exercises of similar scope that have a completion date during or following this week unless specified in the class syllabus. During Final Review Week, an instructor shall not give any examinations constituting 10% or more of the final grade, except makeup tests and laboratory examinations. In addition, no instructor shall give any portion of the final examination during Final Review Week. During this week, classes are held as scheduled. In addition, instructors are not required to limit content to topics that have been previously covered; they may introduce new concepts as appropriate.

Emergency Exit Procedures:

Should we experience an emergency event that requires us to vacate the building, students should exit the room and move toward the nearest exit, [which is located \[insert a description of the nearest exit/emergency exit\]](#). When exiting the building during an emergency, one should never take an elevator but should use the stairwells. Faculty members and instructional staff will assist students in selecting the safest route for evacuation and will make arrangements to assist individuals with disabilities.

Emergency Phone Numbers: In case of an on-campus emergency, call the UT Arlington Police Department at 817-272-3003 (non-campus phone), 2-3003 (campus phone). You may also dial 911. Non-emergency number 817-272-3381

Grading:

Your grade in this class will be determined by considering a number of factors and performance. In all aspects of this course, sincere effort counts and gradual improvement is expected. Strong academic skills including research and communication are necessary for successful completion of assignments. Attendance and classroom participation is also a factor. In-class and homework projects and activities are evaluated in part on the amount of work involved and the care and concern with which they are done. There is NO ALLOWANCE for the late submission of papers or other assignments.

Assignments:

1. Analyzing an Instructional Resource (15%)

In pairs, students will select an Instructional Resource from a recent Art Education to develop a 15-minute presentation with time for discussion using PowerPoint™. While the presentation outlines the instructional resource, students must also clearly identify and analyze the enduring idea, rationale, key concepts, and essential questions. Also, look for and make note of aspects including art history/culture, art making, art criticism, and/or aesthetics for investigating the content. Overall, analyze the resource by describing it and providing your analysis. The Instructional Resources are located in the center of each issue of Art Education and can be found in the Library. To avoid duplication, turn in instructional resource title and date before presentation (will do this in class).

2. Enduring Idea Synopses (5%)

Students will develop a collection of twenty enduring ideas; five for each set of levels (K-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12). Enduring ideas are philosophical and conceptual in nature. The collection must name the enduring ideas and provide a rationale for each (See Chapter 3 in Re-thinking Curriculum for details). Synopses will be posted on BlackBoard™ as PDF's and will be available for all class members to view. Students must bring a hard copy to class on the due date.

3. Unit Overviews (4x5%)

Students will develop eight unit overviews, two for each set of grade levels (K-2, 3-5, 6-8, and 9-12). These units should cover about three to five instructional days. They will build on enduring ideas that will have already been developed or new ones from the exchange of ideas from peers. With each unit, students will include an enduring idea and rationale, unit goals, lesson content, materials, vocabulary, and assessments. A format will be provided to guide the curriculum development. This is a learning process that will span several weeks and students are expected to revise these units for the Electronic Curriculum Resource Notebook due at the end of the semester. Drafts will be posted as PDF's on BlackBoard™ and will be available for all class members to view. Students must bring a hard copy to class on the due date.

4. Complete Unit with Three Lessons (25%)

In pairs, students will select one unit overview (elementary level) from above and develop three (or four) lessons to complete the unit. Each lesson will comprise a day's worth of instruction as a set of detailed procedures. Units will be posted as PDF's on BlackBoard™ and will be available for all class members to view.

5. Practice Demonstrations (20%)

Students will use their unit with three lessons and develop a demonstration or step by step procedures of one lesson (as if teaching to that specific grade level). Students must include prototypes already assembled/created to show during their demonstration. This assignment would be considered the first part of a lesson, which would introduce the K-12 students to what and how they will be making art. Students should include background (historically of work or artists being used), objectives/goals of the assignment, providing proper instruction, introducing them to new vocabulary/tools/safety, and discussing how they will be assessed (depending on what's needed for the particular lesson).

6. Discipline Plan (10%)

Students will write a discipline plan for each level — early elementary, late elementary, middle, and high school art rooms — informed by classroom observations, class discussion, and additional research. Include a short paragraph policy statement for parents and administration and a set of rules for each level accessible for students to understand.

7. Electronic Curriculum Resource (5%)

Students will collect a set of teaching resources while researching and developing curriculum content during the course and neatly organize the material on a CD or jump drive to be collected on the last day of class. The electronic notebook will include all of the material that is written for the course with revisions. Clearly identify the owner and course information on the cover and provide a useful table of contents. It must be professionally organized in sections and folders (easily understandable).
