TEXTBOOKS & MATERIALS

Required Text

- Richardson, Judy S., Morgan, Raymond F., & Fleener, Charlene. (2012). Reading to learn in the content areas (8th ed.). Belmont, CA: Wadsworth.

Optional Text:

- Hadaway, N. L., Vardell, S. M., & Young, T.A. (2002). Literature-based instruction with English language learners, K-12. Boston: Allyn & Bacon.

NOTE: Texts can be ordered online, try your favorite distributor (e.g., Amazon.com or Barnes & Noble) or the UTA Bookstore.

REQUIRED MATERIAL: The College of Education and Health Professions has adopted Tk20, a comprehensive data management system that will provide us with powerful tools to manage our growth and streamline our processes to enable us to meet your needs more efficiently and effectively. The set of tools that is required as a course text is called TK20 HigherEd. The following is a partial listing of what the Tk20 system will enable you to do:

- Create your course and performance artifacts online, which you will be able to access and use beyond graduation. This will be a great benefit to you as you seek to advance in your education career and build your career portfolio over time.
- Submit forms online, including applications for student teaching and other clinical practice required for teacher or administrator certification, and receive timely notification of placement details sent directly to your Tk20 account.
- Create multimedia portfolios for documenting your work for presentation to faculty and prospective employers that can be exported to CDs or other media.
- Monitor your progress throughout the program and have access to a fully documented record of your program performance, including field experience, practicum, internship, or clinical practice. This is particularly important, given increased use of performance interviews by employers.

On-line tutorials and training materials have been organized to orient you to the Tk20 system and its use. The direct link to the COEHP Tk20 informational website is http://www.uta.edu/coehp/tk20

Drop Policy

If you choose to withdraw from the course for any reason, you must follow University procedures. It is your responsibility to execute these procedures correctly and within the deadlines.

Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA)

The University of Texas at Arlington is on record as being committed to both the spirit and letter of federal equal opportunity legislation; reference Public Law 92-112 - The Rehabilitation Act of 1973 as amended. As a faculty member, I am required by law to provide "reasonable accommodation" to students with disabilities, so as not to discriminate on the basis of that disability. Student responsibility primarily rests with informing me of your needs at the beginning of the semester and in providing authorized documentation through designated administrative channels.

Academic Integrity

All students enrolled in this course are expected to adhere to the UT Arlington Honor Code:

I pledge, on my honor, to uphold UT Arlington's tradition of academic integrity, a tradition that values hard work and honest effort in the pursuit of academic excellence.

I promise that I will submit only work that I personally create or contribute to group collaborations, and I will appropriately reference any work from other sources. I will follow the highest standards of integrity and uphold the spirit of the Honor Code.

It is the philosophy of UTA that academic dishonesty is a completely unacceptable mode of conduct and will not be tolerated in any form. All persons involved in academic dishonesty will be disciplined in accordance with University regulations and procedures. Discipline may include suspension or expulsion from the University. I take scholastic dishonesty very seriously – if the excerpt below is unclear, see me. I consider copying directly from the text or internet sites without proper citation as plagiarism. If in doubt, cite. I do not give credit for plagiarized assignments or cheating on exams and I will refer plagiarism to the Office of Student Judicial Affairs.

"Scholastic dishonesty includes but is not limited to cheating, plagiarism, collusion, the submission for credit of any work or materials that are attributable in whole or in part to another person, taking an examination for another person, any act designed to give unfair advantage to a student or the attempt to commit such acts." (Regents = Rules and Regulations, Part One, Chapter VI, Section 3, Subsection 3.2, Subdivision 3.22)

Plagiarism

Plagiarism is the presentation of another person's work as your own, whether you mean to or not! Copying or paraphrasing passages from another writer's work without acknowledging that you've done so is plagiarism. Allowing another writer to write any part of your essay is plagiarism. Plagiarism is a serious offense. If you are suspected, you will be called before the Vice President for Student Affairs for disciplinary action. You will be given an incomplete for the course until your case is resolved. Plagiarism is easy to avoid. Simply acknowledge the source of any words, phrases or ideas that you use. If you're not sure how to quote or paraphrase a source or if you need help with the format of endnotes or bibliographies, check with me. While you can (and should) seek the help and advice of friends, classmates, and tutors, be sure that your written work is completely your own.

To learn how to properly acknowledge sources, complete the UTA Library's tutorial located at <http://library.uta.edu/tutorials/Plagiarism/>.

Student Support Services

The University supports a variety of student success programs to help you connect with the University and achieve academic success. They include learning assistance, developmental education, advising and mentoring, admission and transition, and federally funded programs. Students requiring assistance academically, personally, or socially should contact the Office of Student Success Programs at 817-272-6107 for more information and appropriate referrals.

2) LESSON PLANS (4 at 25 points each for 100 points total)

You will create FOUR original lesson plans: 1) Prereading or Graphic Organizer, 2) Vocabulary or Study Strategies, 3) Content Writing (4 lessons @ 25 points each for 100 points total). The lesson plans are linked to information in the online lessons and textbook and you will need to refer to the online lessons for specific activities to use in the lesson plans and cite scholarly research that supports the activities and strategies that you use.

NOTE: Each lesson plan must be original (developed by you) and not one that you found at a website or other published source.

Format: Use the required format for lesson plans that follows.

Section I: Lesson Plan Background:

- Cite the specific activity/strategy that is used in the lesson plan. The activity/strategy must be one introduced in the professor authored reading and/or textbook. Explain why you selected the activity/strategy and how it will help you to accomplish your instructional objectives.
- Support your choice of activity/strategy and the steps in your instructional plan with scholarly research indicating its effectiveness. Be sure to note the references for all research cited.

Section II: Lesson Plan Format (NOTE: This is the required format for LIST 5316, 5317, 5326, 5345, 5361, and 5362 unless otherwise specified):

Instructional Objective: \(Instructions\)

Include content, level of thinking [Bloom's], and student output.

Make sure that you cite both the TEKS and the TAKS linked to the lesson.

Instructional Materials and Resources: \(Instructions\)

(List what you need during instruction, and copy/paste handouts, etc. here.)

Content Outline: \(Instructions\)

Include specific pages, notes, and any research you have done on the topic that is being presented. Cite the major literacy elements addressed in the lesson.

Accommodations and Modifications: \(Instructions\)

(This area needs to be completed whether or not you currently have special needs students.)

Instructional Procedures:

NOTE: Cells will expand as you type into them.

	PROCEDURE	ACTIVITY (name or description)

8	Closure (Instructions)

INSTRUCTIONS FOR LESSON PLAN FORMAT

Time suggestions are based on a 50 minute period. Keep in mind that you need to be changing activities with regularity to keep students on task. The attention span for most adults is no longer than 10-15 minutes at best, so you can imagine what it is with children and adolescents!

Instructional Objectives: Be specific. State what you want students to know and be able to do. Include two objectives for a block lesson. Begin the objective, “Students will be able to (SWBAT)...” Designate the cognitive level (Bloom’s Taxonomy). Cite both the TEKS (<http://www.tea.state.tx.us/teks/>) (linked to the lesson).

Instructional Materials and Resources:

What do you need before and during instruction to students?

For example:

Textbook(s)

Handouts

Overhead transparencies

Content Outline:

Include specific pages, notes, and any research you have done on the topic that is being presented. For example:

Intro. To Business – pages 5-18, Handout on Vocabulary,
Additional Handouts and Teacher Notes

Accommodations and Modifications:

This area needs to be filled in whether or not you have special needs students. Designate specific additional resources, alternate instructional activities, alternate grading procedures, etc.

INSTRUCTIONAL PROCEDURES: (Assign time limits to each.)

Sponge Activity: A "sponge" (also called bell work/bell ringers or vocabulary builders) is an activity designed to produce learning during the times taken up by "administrivia." When you go over these activities with the students, do so orally so that you can determine the types of errors and why students are making mistakes. Discussing aloud why certain answers are correct allows students to understand your thinking process.

Suggested time: 5 minutes

Set Induction: This should be an experiment, read aloud, or hands-on demonstration that gets the students interested in what is being presented that day. Suggested time: 3 minutes

Pre-assessment of student understanding of the lesson concept/process/skill: Conduct a quick assessment of student understanding of what you are about to present. Be specific about the level of student understanding. For instance, "Only 25% of the students had a basic understanding of the concept to be taught." This information could be gathered from homework results, questioning during the sponge activity, a pretest, etc. Make note of exactly how many students have no understanding of the concept/process/skill to be taught and how many may have some idea, etc.

Large Group Instruction: Have your notes ready to give the overview of the lesson for the students. (This part should not last more than 15 minutes without some kind of interaction from the students---they cannot keep their focus any longer than that.) Suggested time: 10 minutes maximum

Feedback: Then have students try what you have taught, and immediately check for understanding. This can be done in a number of ways: responses to questions, board work, monitoring of independent work.

In your instruction description, note how your instruction provides specific intervention focused on the preassessment that you conducted before the lesson.

Independent Work or Group Work: This could include activities at their desks, board work, experiments, projects they are working on, or research in class sets of books. You don't have to do group work, but if you do, keep the following items in mind.

Grouping of students

- Assign roles
- Discuss time limits
- Discuss signals-what does the teacher do to get students' attention (make sure the students know this from the very beginning of the year)

Work with assigned groups using outline or with individual students depending on the assignment. (Be sure to move around from student to student to check for understanding.) Suggested time: 15 minutes maximum

KEEP IN MIND THAT YOU CAN REPEAT NUMBERS 3 & 4 IF TIME PERMITS.

Give feedback at end of time limit: Feedback means that you sum up the most important things that you wanted them to gather from what they were doing whether it was an experiment, worksheet, project, or research. Suggested time: 2 minutes

Evaluation (This can include any or all of the following areas.):

Post assessment of concept/process/skill: Specifically assess how many students have now mastered what was taught. Be specific about the impact of instruction. For example, "At the beginning of the lesson, only one or two students could . . . but by the end of the lesson, 90% of the students had a mastery of . . ." Cite the exact number (or percentage) of students who have mastered the concept/process/skills, how many have not, and if possible, what areas students are still having problems with.

- Oral presentation by each person-use only if you did group work
- Evaluation of contribution by each group member-use only if you did group work

- Any future tests will include concepts and processes studied (you may want to have a quick 5 question test to see if the students understood what you presented.) Suggested time: 10 minutes

Closure: Teacher summarizes 2 concepts that were introduced in your large group instruction. Then teacher has students use these same concepts to apply to the lesson they just finished. (For example: Today, students we covered the concepts of free enterprise. How do the following 2 terms relate back to what you did in class today?) You as the teacher be sure that you summarize the concepts at the very end before they leave the class. Suggested time: 2 minutes

3) NONFICTION BOOKTALK POWER POINT (book selection must be from approved lists/websites)

Overview

NOTE: YOU MUST CHOOSE A BOOK FROM THE REQUIRED LISTS ON THE WEBSITES NOTED BELOW. YOU MUST CREATE A POWERPOINT PRESENTATION FOR THIS ASSIGNMENT.

- To demonstrate the importance of using supplemental resources in the classroom, you will choose a nonfiction trade book from the Orbis Pictus or the Sibert Award lists that could be utilized in the classroom to teach concepts in grades K-12. A trade book is like a library book, not another textbook or reference text. The book chosen should be a motivational read with many features (e.g., illustrations, interesting information, format, etc.) to engage all students including reluctant readers, and to assist English learners and/or struggling readers.
- NOTE: You must choose a children's/young adult book related to your subject area teaching field and from one of the following two websites with lists of award winners. The book you select can be a winner, honor book, or recommended book on either of the lists.
 - Orbis Pictus (1990-present): <http://www.ncte.org/awards/orbispictus>
 - Sibert Award (2001-present): <http://www.ala.org/alsc/awardsgrants/bookmedia/sibertmedal>

Instructions – Format and Content

Create a PowerPoint presentation to “sell” your book to students (in the summary/personal response section) and to colleagues (in the justification, application, and interview [What do students say? What do teachers say? What do librarians say?] sections). Arrange your PowerPoint presentation in the following sequence with these required sections and subheadings and the content points noted.

You can include bullets for justification points, application ideas, etc. Be sure to use professional language but offer an interesting presentation to engage an audience.

Be sure to use large font for readability, for instance, you might put each application idea on a separate slide. Your presentation will be approximately 20 slides, maybe longer.

Title Page & Background Information: See required information in grading rubric.

Section I: Bibliography

- Use APA format for bibliographic citation with author, year of publication, title, place of publication, and publisher.
- Cite websites with reviews and information about the book and cite this URL and summarize the information provided in your own words.
- Include a graphic of the book cover. You can obtain this from a site such as Amazon.com where the review is found. Be sure to reference the source of any graphic used.

Section II: Summary (This section is addressed to students, a type of persuasive ad for the book.)

- Present a brief synopsis of the book in your own words with your personal response to book. Create this as a “booktalk” for your students to sell the book and convince them to read it.

Section III: Justification for Use (This section is addressed to colleagues to help convince them to consider using the book in their classes.)

- Why is this book applicable to your teaching field? Be specific.
- What would students gain from exposure to this book? How does this book address the needs of English learners and/or struggling readers. Be specific.

- c) Search for any Web-based links to this book that offer related information, justification or classroom applications for the book and the subject area addressed by the book. Cite these URLs and summarize the ideas in your own words.
- d) Cite what subject area TEKS goals for K-12 students this book links to and explain how.

Section IV: Application to the Classroom (This section is addressed to colleagues to help understand how they could integrate the book in their classes.)

□ Describe specific classroom applications/activities for the book in a specific content area. Include ideas to engage reluctant readers and to assist English learners and/or struggling readers. Describe the applications/activities in detail. (NOTE: Supplemental reading is not a valid activity to include since any book can be used as a supplemental resource; be creative and highlight a specific activity to involve students with the book. For example, students might construct a graph with information from the book, or they might collect points for and against an issue discussed in the book and then participate in a class debate.)

□ Offer examples of other children's and young adult literature and supplemental resources that could be connected to this book. Check the rubric for the number of activities and additional resources to cite.)

Section V: Teacher/Student Interview Data (This section is addressed to colleagues: What do teachers say? What do students say?)

- a) If used in your classroom, present data about how the class received the book and their responses.
- b) If you did not present the book in your class, you must interview a young person in the age range that you plan to use the book and get their input on the book and your strategies for using it.
- c) Interview at least one teacher in grades P-12 and ask her about the use of supplemental reading/tradebooks. What supplemental resources does the teacher use to assist English learners and/or struggling readers with expository text? Does he/she have a class library? If so, how many and what types of books are in the class library? Does the school or does this teacher have a specific time for sustained silent reading in the classroom? How often and how long is the reading time? Is he/she familiar with the book?

Section VI: Library Interview Data (This section is addressed to colleagues: What do librarians say.)

- a) Visit the library at a P-12 school and interview the librarian.
- b) Does the librarian order nonfiction books based on award lists such as the Orbis Pictus or the Sibert?
- c) How does the librarian feature new books, award winning titles, etc.?
- d) What trends in circulation has the librarian noted? What books do students tend to checkout? How does nonfiction measure in terms of student popularity?
- e) What types of magazines that could be used for content area support are available in the library?

4) TEXTBOOK EVALUATION

Description: Using information from the text and professor authored readings, evaluate a K-12 content textbook as to readability levels, understandability, usability, and interestability, with special attention to issues for English learners, reluctant readers, and struggling readers. Choose a textbook that is: a recent (2000present) adoption for grades K-12 and related to your teaching field. If you are not currently teaching, you may check out a textbook from the UTA Library Curriculum Collection. You may also find textbooks at the local Education Service Center in your region.

Instructions – Format and Content

You may complete this part of the assignment in Word or Power Point. If you choose to use Power Point, please use larger font and do not put too much information on an individual slide. Arrange your assignment in the following sequence with these required sections and subheadings and the content points noted.

Instructions – Format and Content

Arrange your assignment in the following sequence with these required sections and subheadings and the content points noted.

Title Page & Background Information: See required information in grading rubric. Include reflection statement in this required format:

Section I: Textbook Information

- a) Cite bibliographic information in APA format (author, year of publication, title, place of publication, publisher).
- b) Check to see if the publisher has a Web site that provides information about your textbook. You may need to resort to a general search engine such as www.google.com in order to find information on a publisher Web site/text Web site. Cite the URL and summarize the major information provided about this textbook or about the publisher and their materials in general. Check to see if there are any other links associated with your textbook.

Section II: Reading Level Information

Using the Fry Readability Graph directions from the textbook or from the Internet, calculate the reading level of your textbook. Describe the process you went through to calculate the reading level. Cite whether you think this is a realistic level. Based on the language used in the text, will the students (including English learners and struggling readers) have difficulty reading the text? Why or why not? Give specific examples.

Section III: Text Evaluation/Analysis Instruments

- a) Examine the text evaluation instruments in the textbook (e.g., Bader) (Note: the Fry, Raygor, Smog, rule of thumb, etc. are not evaluation instruments; they are readability measures) as well as the four to five examples in the professor authored readings in one of the lessons, and discuss similarities and differences among these.
- b) What did you learn from an examination of each of these instruments?
- c) How could this type of information be used to assess a text and to help readers with a textbook?
- d) Choose one of the evaluation instruments from the online reading or from the text (e.g., the Bader and not a readability formula). Cite the specific text evaluation instrument you chose to use and tell why you chose that instrument and then use it to evaluate the text presenting your findings.
- e) Address each of the specific categories in the evaluation instrument (e.g., vocabulary) with specific comments about your rating. In other words, actually assess the textbook with that instrument.
- f) How does the text align to the TEKS? Be very specific and cite examples from the book that address various TEKS.

Section IV: Text Analysis

- a) List strengths and weaknesses of your textbook according to the information you gathered using the text evaluation instrument. Be specific citing examples from the textbook itself to support your strengths/weaknesses. See rubric for the number of strengths/weaknesses required.
- b) Provide a rationale for each strength/weakness in your list.

Section V: Adapting the Text for Students

- a) Using the suggestions from textbook and professor authored readings, consider the weaknesses of the textbook and discuss specific methods you will use to accommodate for student difficulties with text. Be specific in your adaptations and be sure to use ideas from the text and readings. Consider adaptations to engage reluctant readers and to assist English learners and struggling readers. Cite the research support for your adaptations and make sure you lead students to text and not away from it. We should be fostering literacy skills.

Section VII: Administrator/Teacher/Student Interview Data

- a) Cite students' ratings of the text. If you do not use this textbook, locate a student of the age/grade level who is using this book. Interview them about the difficulties they encounter in using textbooks and ask them to review this textbook and to give some specific feedback about text-related issues.
- b) Interview at least one teacher in grades P-12 and ask him/her about the use of textbooks. Do the students (including English learners and struggling readers) have any problems with text reading assignments? How does the teacher assist students who have difficulties with the text. What types of ancillary materials are available for use with the adopted textbooks?
- c) Conduct an administrator (lead teacher, department chair, principal) interview and offer a description and evaluation (with insights about the process) of the textbook evaluation/adoption process used in the district.

6) READING RESPONSE &, REPLIES HAS TWO PARTS (A) RESPONSE & B) REPLIES,.

Description: Candidates will engage in an electronic discussion in response to the textbook and online lesson readings. The electronic discussion has two parts: a) candidate's original response to text and online readings and b) candidate's replies to peers.

Format & Content: Arrange assignment in the sequence that follows with the required sections / subheadings and the content points noted.

Part A: Response: Candidates will submit to the Group Discussion Board a reading response summarizing and linking the textbook and online lesson reading (as indicated in the schedule) as well as personal reactions to the material. Candidates should make ONLY ONE posting for the lessons (usually 2-3 lessons are linked for this assignment and indicated on the course schedule) no matter how many chapters/lessons read. The posting should synthesize the information for all the textbook chapters and online lessons read. Mark the posting with the following label: Response #1, etc.

- Six Key Points I Learned/I Found Interesting: Candidates will cite at least 6 specific pieces of research, findings, suggestions from the textbook and online reading noting the chapter/page/author and what was learned that was new/interesting. Candidates cite how these points relate to their specific teaching situation with personal reactions/responses/analysis.
- Two Key Points I Have Questions About/Found Confusing/ Disagreed With: Candidates cite at least 2 specific pieces of information from the textbook and online reading noting the chapter/page/author and what remaining questions they still have, why they are confused, why they disagree. Candidates cite how these points relate to their specific teaching situation with personal reactions/responses/analysis.
- One Point I Would Like More Information About: Candidates cite at least one piece of information from the textbook and online reading that they would like to explore further. Candidates cite how this issue relates to them in their specific teaching situation with personal reactions/responses/analysis.

Part B: Replies: Following response posting, candidates will return to the discussion board to read and reply to at least two peer's responses. Label replies as Reply 1A & Reply 1B, etc. The format for the reply part of this assignment is as follows.

- Personal Connections: Why did you choose this posting to respond to?
- Discussion: What questions or comments do you have for the author of the response posting?
- Extension: How can you extend the conversation on this posting? (Share specific resources, experiences, etc.)

Here are some ideas for improving the quality of your discussion.

Try to avoid, just restating the points you cited from the text and the online reading with personal opinions such as the following.

- I recognize the importance of . . .
- It is important to learn/know about . . .
- I see this . . . in my classroom

For the most part, when you start with openers such as these, you are not adding anything additional/new to the discussion. Provide some specific examples of what you are seeing in school/class or in your environment related to the reading/discussion. Following are some ways to elaborate on the discussion (these were offered by a graduate of our program, Suann Claunch of FWISD).

- I agree with ____ because ____
- I disagree with ____ because ____
- I wonder about ____ because ____
- According to ____
- The evidence shows ____
- In my classroom, I see ____ and this seems to confirm/contradict ____

In other words, don't just state an opinion. Support your point of view with specific examples and connections to other reading, discussion, etc.

For Replies, consider the following.

- Can you say something similar using other words?
- What did you like about the previous contribution?
- What new ideas did that contribution give you?
- What puzzled you about the last statement?
- How did the person who made the last statement arrive at that conclusion?
- Can you elaborate, explain, or give another example of the last statement?
- What puzzled you as you were trying to think of an answer to this question?
- Did I contribute to the discussion?
- Did I encourage others to contribute or clarify ideas?
- What would I like to do in the next discussion? How can I do this?
- Who was the person who contributed the most interesting or valuable comments?
- Who was the Most Valuable Player in keeping the discussion going?
- Who encouraged me the most in the discussion?
