5. Curricular Practical Training: Students are expected to seek professional opportunities as a part of this course. Participation and progress in these endeavors must be approved and overseen by applied instructor. Private instruction, participation in professional orchestras, and chamber music performance are examples of approved activities. These activities will be assessed as a percentage of the weekly lesson grade.

Attendance Policy: At The University of Texas at Arlington, taking attendance is not required but attendance is a critical indicator in student success. Each faculty member is free to develop his or her own methods of evaluating students' academic performance, which includes establishing course-specific policies on attendance. As the instructor of this section, I require students to attend all lessons, all studio class sessions, and all required recitals/concerts. Unexcused lessons will not be made up and the final grade will be affected. Midterms and Juries will not be made up. See below for additional information.

However, while UT Arlington does not require instructors to take attendance in their courses, the U.S. Department of Education requires that the University have a mechanism in place to mark when Federal Student Aid recipients “begin attendance in a course.” UT Arlington instructors will report when students begin attendance in a course as part of the final grading process. Specifically, when assigning a student a grade of F, faculty report the last date a student attended their class based on evidence such as a test, participation in a class project or presentation, or an engagement online via Blackboard. This date is reported to the Department of Education for federal financial aid recipients.

Requirements, Attendance, and Expectations for Out of Class Study:

Evidence of consistent progress by the student is expected. It is required that the student come to each lesson having completed the minimum level of preparation required. Beyond the time required to attend each lesson, students enrolled in this course should expect to spend additional time each week in course-related activities, including practicing, attending studio class, reading required materials, completing assignments, preparing for juries, etc. Please see the following suggested minimum practice hours. The number of hours required for recital/concert attendance will vary from week to week. Please see the list of concerts posted outside Professor Fullerton’s door for the most current schedule.

- Non-performance music majors: 2 hours of practice per day
Performance majors: 3-4 hours of practice per day
Non-majors: 1 hour of practice per day
Masters of Music in performance: 4 hours of practice per day
- In general, this is the minimum time commitment required to achieve the results expected on an applied instrument. This practice must occur on a daily basis. It is not optimal to skip practice days and then make up practice at a later time. Improvement on a musical instrument is cumulative – practice must occur daily.
 - Scales: to be practiced every day. They are the foundation of our technique and our repertoire and are an integral part of a daily practice routine.
 - Etudes and Technical Exercises: will be assigned on a weekly basis. Etudes are very goal specific and should be practiced in this manner. If a student does not have a clear understanding of the manner in which a particular etude or exercise should be practiced, then they should immediately consult with a fellow student or make an appointment to review the question with instructor.
- The student must be warmed up for the lesson. If the student has evidently not warmed up for 30 minutes prior to the lesson, the overall lesson grade may be affected. If a student has a class immediately prior to the lesson, it is expected that the student will warm up for 30 minutes prior to the class.
- Students are required to come to lessons with the instrument and bow in good working order and all materials organized for productive study.
- Students are responsible for providing an accompanist when deemed necessary by the instructor. Failure to do so may impact the student’s lesson grade.
- The student is required to attend weekly Studio Classes as required by the instructor.

LESSON RECORDINGS:

Recording lessons are at the option of the student. The goal of recording lessons is to develop an objective ear. Hearing ourselves in this “third party” fashion gives us a more neutral perspective in our playing that will help with diagnostics, phrasing, style, and assimilation. It also aids in identifying visible technical and/or posture issues as well as physical tension. The cello studio owns a video camera which can be used with the student’s own SD card (4-32 GB) to capture each lesson. This is for the benefit of those who choose to use it but it is not a requirement of the lessons. Students are strongly encouraged to record any Studio Class sessions in which they are performing.

RECITAL ATTENDANCE

Students are required to attend all recitals posted and indicated on the board outside Professor Fullerton's office (253B). If an illness or conflict arises, it is the student's responsibility to receive an excused absence from Professor Fullerton before the scheduled event. All communication must occur IN WRITING. Make-up events will be offered if it is necessary to miss a concert. However, the student's best effort should be made to attend every scheduled event.

Required Textbooks and Other Course Materials:

- Electronic metronome and tuner
- Individual course assignments (solos and etude books) will be addressed at first private lesson. It is the responsibility of the student to order assigned music at that time. Additional work requiring music purchases may be assigned as the semester progresses. It is the responsibility of the student to order assigned music promptly for each new assignment.
- Optional SD card (4-32 GB) (see Requirements)

Students may be asked to provide documentation of his/her research process.

Grading Policy:

Students are expected to keep track of their performance throughout the semester and seek guidance from available sources (including the instructor) if their performance drops below satisfactory levels.

Jury/ Recital Hearing: 40%

Midterm: 10%

Lesson Performance: 30%

Recital Attendance: 10%

Studio Class: 10%

NOTE: see "Solo Recital" for the possible exception to the above grading policy.

Final grade is based on performance in these main areas:

Lesson Performance:

The student should come to each lesson prepared to perform all assigned materials including scales, exercises, etudes, solo materials, and excerpts. Evidence of consistent progress is required. Responsiveness and focus are required in each lesson. The student is expected to follow directions quickly and to be receptive to instruction. Failure to meet any of these expectations will result in a lower grade.

If a student is more than 10 minutes late to a lesson, the lesson will be canceled and considered unexcused. The lesson will not be made up. Please no gum, no drinks, and no food in studio during the lesson. Cellular phones must be turned off. Professional/business casual attire please.

Midterm Exam:

Specific repertoire and technical materials will be assigned by the instructor at the beginning of and possibly throughout the semester. The student is required to perform the assigned materials at a level considered competent by the instructor.

Final Jury Exam:

Students enrolled in major or concentration applied study are required to perform for a faculty jury at the end of each semester. The assigned Student Learning Outcomes will be the basis of the student's final jury exam. The student will be evaluated according to the following criteria: tone quality, intonation, technique, musicality, rhythm, and stylistic interpretation. The student is responsible for filling out a jury sheet at the end of the semester. This sheet must be filled out on the computer and the student is responsible for bringing enough copies for each panelist. A digital template will be provided by Professor Fullerton no later than one week before the jury.

Recital Attendance:

See "RECITAL ATTENDANCE" above. Professor Fullerton will provide a list of all required recitals/concerts. This information will also be posted outside FA 253B. Please note that this list is subject to change throughout the semester. Therefore, the official list of required events will be the one posted outside Professor Fullerton's door.

Studio Class:

Students are required to attend all studio class sessions. Students are expected to participate actively in studio class by performing, engaging in discussions, and by giving constructive feedback to their colleagues who have performed. Studio Class meets Mondays 1:00-2:00 in FA 303A. Failure to attend/participate in studio class will result in a lower grade.

Solo Recital:

Performance majors in their sixth and eighth semesters are required to give solo recitals. Education majors in their seventh semester are required to give a solo recital. Masters students in their fourth semesters are required to give a solo recital. These recitals must be completed in the aforementioned semester (exceptions must be approved by Professor Fullerton). Students must successfully complete and pass a recital hearing no later than three weeks prior to the recital in order to proceed with the recital (see Recital Hearing). It is the student's responsibility to secure the date, time, and committee for the hearing. The recital and hearing date are to be set within the first two weeks of the semester. An area form, to be supplied and approved by the applied teacher, must be signed by each member of the committee. If the recital is not given, the student will receive an incomplete for the semester (I). If the recital is not successfully completed in the following long semester (fall/spring), the grade will be changed to an F.

Recital Hearing:

The recital hearing is required for all undergraduate level recitals. Graduate students are not required to perform a recital hearing. The recital hearing for all undergraduate degree recitals is a pass/fail event. Each student in his/her recital semester will be given one opportunity to present and pass the recital hearing. The entire recital program must be prepared and presented in the recital hearing. A formatted program and program notes are due at the recital hearing. The student must complete and pass the recital hearing no later than three weeks prior to the recital. Failure to play the hearing no later than three weeks prior to the recital may result in a failed grade for the hearing. The area coordinator must approve any exceptions to this timeline. It is the student's responsibility to secure the date, time, and committee for the hearing. The recital and hearing date are to be set within the first two weeks of the semester. An area form, to be supplied and approved by the applied teacher, must be signed by each member of the committee. A three-member panel of UT Arlington music faculty will evaluate each recital hearing. A minimum of two faculty members must be from the string area and one of these two must be the applied teacher. In the event that a member of the recital hearing committee is unavailable to attend the hearing in person, video review is a permissible option with the prior approval of the area coordinator.

In the event that the student does not pass the recital hearing, he/she will be given an F in the course and will be required to repeat the course in the following long semester (fall/spring). The student will not be permitted to repeat the recital hearing until the next long semester.

Note: For those on scholarship, failure to meet these minimum requirements could result in loss of scholarship.

Expectations for Out-of-Class Study: see Requirements for the additional hours per week of the student's own time in course-related activities, including reading required materials, practicing, completing assignments, attending recitals, preparing for juries, etc.

Drop Policy: Students may drop or swap (adding and dropping a class concurrently) classes through self-service in MyMav from the beginning of the registration period through the late registration period. After the late registration period, students must see their academic advisor to drop a class or withdraw. Undeclared students must see an advisor in the University Advising Center. Drops can continue through a point two-thirds of the way through the term or session. It is the student's responsibility to officially withdraw if they do not plan to attend after registering. Students will not be automatically dropped for non-attendance. Repayment of certain types of financial aid administered through the University may be required as the result of dropping classes or withdrawing. For more information, contact the Office of Financial Aid and Scholarships (<http://www.uta.edu/ses/fao>).

Students are responsible for providing the instructor with official notification in the form of a letter certified by the Office for Students with Disabilities (OSD). Only those students who have officially documented a need for an accommodation will have their request honored. Students experiencing a range of conditions (Physical, Learning, Chronic Health, Mental Health, and Sensory) that may cause diminished academic performance or other barriers to learning may seek services and/or accommodations by contacting: The Office for Students with Disabilities, (OSD) www.uta.edu/disability or calling 817-272-3364. Information regarding diagnostic criteria and policies for obtaining disability-based academic accommodations can be found at www.uta.edu/disability.

I promise that I will submit only work that I personally create or contribute to group collaborations, and I will appropriately reference any work from other sources. I will follow the highest standards of integrity and uphold the spirit of the Honor Code.

UT Arlington faculty members may employ the Honor Code as they see fit in their courses, including (but not limited to) having students acknowledge the honor code as part of an examination or requiring students to incorporate the honor code into any work submitted. Per UT System Regents’ Rule 50101, §2.2, suspected violations of university’s standards for academic integrity (including the Honor Code) will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct. Violators will be disciplined in accordance with University policy, which may result in the student’s suspension or expulsion from the University.

Electronic Communication: UT Arlington has adopted MavMail as its official means to communicate with students about important deadlines and events, as well as to transact university-related business regarding financial aid, tuition, grades, graduation, etc. All students are assigned a MavMail account and are responsible for checking the inbox regularly. There is no additional charge to students for using this account, which remains active even after graduation. Information about activating and using MavMail is available at <http://www.uta.edu/oit/cs/email/mavmail.php>.

Campus Carry: Effective August 1, 2016, the Campus Carry law (Senate Bill 11) allows those licensed individuals to carry a concealed handgun in buildings on public university campuses, except in locations the University establishes as prohibited. Under the new law, openly carrying handguns is not allowed on college campuses. For more information, visit <http://www.uta.edu/news/info/campus-carry/>

Student Feedback Survey: At the end of each term, students enrolled in face-to-face and online classes categorized as “lecture,” “seminar,” or “laboratory” are directed to complete an online Student Feedback Survey (SFS). Instructions on how to access the SFS for this course will be sent directly to each student through MavMail approximately 10 days before the end of the term. Each student’s feedback via the SFS database is aggregated with that of other students enrolled in the course. Students’ anonymity will be protected to the extent that the law allows. UT Arlington’s effort to solicit, gather, tabulate, and publish student feedback is required by state law and aggregate results are posted online. Data from SFS is also used for faculty and program evaluations. For more information, visit <http://www.uta.edu/sfs>.

Final Review Week: for semester-long courses, a period of five class days prior to the first day of final examinations in the long sessions shall be designated as Final Review Week. The purpose of this week is to allow students sufficient time to prepare for final examinations. During this week, there shall be no scheduled activities such as required field trips or performances; and no instructor shall assign any themes, research problems or exercises of similar scope that have a completion date during or following this week unless specified in the class syllabus. During Final Review Week, an instructor shall not give any examinations constituting 10% or more of the final grade, except makeup tests and laboratory examinations. In addition, no instructor shall give any portion of the final examination during Final Review Week. During this week, classes are held as scheduled. In addition, instructors are not required to limit content to topics that have been previously covered; they may introduce new concepts as appropriate.

Grade Grievance Policy: Any appeal of a grade in this course must follow the procedures and deadlines for grade-related grievances as published in the current undergraduate/ graduate catalog. For undergraduate courses, see http://web.uta.edu/catalog/content/general/academic_regulations.aspx#10; for graduate courses, see <http://www.uta.edu/gradcatalog/2012/general/regulations/#grades>.

Emergency Exit Procedures: Should we experience an emergency event that requires us to vacate the building, students should exit the room and move toward the nearest exit, which is located across the hall from Dr. Walvoord's studio door. When exiting the building during an emergency, one should never take an elevator but should use the stairwells. Faculty members and instructional staff will assist students in selecting the safest route for evacuation and will make arrangements to assist handicapped individuals.
